BRITAIN'S BIG BULL

Has Broken Into the American China Shop.

AND IS SMASHING PRICES

Right and Left—Some of the Tricks by Which Importers Get the Trade—Unclassified Dealers in the American List are the Special Object of Attack—They Make Them Feel Injured.

"The foreigner has it all his own way in the crockery market now, and he is too smart to let go his hold without a hard fight. He is making money and driving such persons as myself to desperation because it hardly pays a man to stay on the road."

The speaker was a traveling salesman whose name is known in every pottery in the city, and whose reputation will stand as well as any. He is a progressive traveler, who keeps his eye upon every indicator of trade, and is an authority whose keenness would make him noted if he but displayed it to the world as he did to a reporter last night. Asked if he could account for this hold of the British, he settled himself well in his chair, and said:

"The importers know that the American manufacturers have decided to work every corner of the trade in order to keep their factories in operation, and realize a little on the money they have invested. They are as smooth as glass in business tactics, having had long and excellent experience when the market was in the hands of the Americans, and they are as tricky as any fox you ever saw. Of course, you know the white granite compact have a book which gives the name of every dealer in the country. The committee who are responsible for that book knew their business, and the classification of crockery merchants is the best the salesmen have ever had. The jobbers are placed in a certain class, the retailers are in another, the smaller dealers in another, and the smallest are unclassified. The different discounts are given because of the amount of patronage, and the system has been found eminently satisfactory, since it follows out the plan of the merchant, practiced every day in every town of the world. If you buy a big bill you are likely to get a little off if the business man is generous. The salesmen for the importers are working this among the dealers for all it is worth. They find two crockery stores on a street. One dealer handles nothing but crockery and buys a lot being among the firms listed. The other fellow sells groceries and a little ware, perhaps only keeping it to please some of his country customers. An importer's salesman comes along, and tells the small dealer that his name is not in the American list, that they are discriminating against him, and he can not buy ware at the prices accorded his neighbor. Then they have a neat little speech which shows the enormity of this crime, painting it in colors that makes it appear as bad as murder. Then that merchant not only swears that he will never buy American goods again, but he thinks the importer has done him a great service, and leaves an order to show his gratitude. That is not square business. If your merchants here did a business of that kind the whole town would be down on them in a week. That is how the foreigners have captured the little trade, and are keeping it too. They are selling white ware at ruinous prices, and yet making more money than they have in many years. You should see how the salesmen smile when they see the Americans waiting around the hotels in the cities. They know their advantage."

"Another advantage the importers have is in the number of salesmen they employ. I presume that this proportion is about six to one. Don't understand me as meaning that the New York and Boston importers employ these men, for they do not. The majority are working for jobbing houses in different parts of the country. They can make more money selling foreign ware, and they push it to the front. Then it means that there are six salesmen condemning, yes, damning American ware, where one is upholding it. This may seem rather strange, but it is true, and every salesman in Liverpool will tell you the same thing. It is not the lack of merit that make American crockery a drug on the market. It is this contemptible business method I spoke of. I have heard the salesmen of importing houses acknowledge that Liverpool makes the finest and best selling shapes in the world. They know there is no use trying to get around it, and they acknowledge the corn."

"Yes, sir, that British bull, and the German eagle, for that matter, are loose in the American china shop, and they are playing smash with things in general."

THE PAPERS SIGNED.

The High Service System Will be Brought Down.

The water works trustees and the manufacturers decided today the destiny of the scheme to extend the high service to the uptown potteries by signing the papers that closed the deal. The amount of money required from the companies in the deal is $900, and they agreed to pay it. The companies are the D. E. McNicol pottery, the Dresden, Knowles, Taylor & Knowles, Goodwin Pottery company, the Standard, Thomas & Sons. It is the purpose of the commissioners to have the improvement made at the earliest possible moment. Plans will be drawn, estimates made out, and the contract let as soon as possible.

MANUFACTURERS MET

They Talked Over Conditions Last Evening.

A general meeting of the manufacturers was held last evening representatives from all the concerns in the city being present. The business of the session was not given out today beyond the remark that nothing was done except a general discussion of the situation, and an exchange of views upon the workings of the new tariff. It was the answer to inquiries. The executive committee of the white granite compact discussed affairs at the meeting yesterday afternoon.

The Crockery Trade.

It is not easy for the reporter of trade transactions to hold the balance of opinion on the status of trade between the varying, and frequently opposite statements made to him thereupon. So many men, so many minds; and so many influences to induce the optimistic or pessimistic view, as it happens to be. Half a dozen traders have expressed to me just as many opinions regarding the status of business, and summing up the situation on the basis of average it is this: Not quite so strong a movement but with increased inquiries and a corresponding disposition on the part of buyers to hold off.—China, Glass and Lamps.

THE MECHANICS.

Liverpool Got Offices at Zanesville, but None in Mansfield.

Mayor Gilbert, Thomas H. Arbuckle and A. H. Clark returned last night from Zanesville, where they attended the state meeting of American Mechanics. When the offices were passed around Mr. Arbuckle was again made treasurer, and Mr. Gilbert was given a place on the finance committee. Solicitor Clark has been national representative for several years. Rev. J. B. Manley, of Clarington, formerly of this city, was elected state chaplain. While the membership of the order showed a decrease the finances were found to be all right. The next meeting will be held in Akron. The delegates were splendidly entertained.

At the annual meeting of Junior Mechanics in Mansfield the visitors were hospitably greeted, and given every opportunity to carry away pleasant recollections of the week. The most important business was the change in the time for holding the meetings from May to September. Springfield will get the next convention. Ohio is making a hard fight for the orphan home, which the order will build, and the probabilities are that Tiffin will be the lucky town. Liverpool got no offices when they were given out, but John Grafton, of Wellsville, was made conductor. Ervin Dunlap and John Anderson, of this city, and Mr. McGee, returned from Mansfield last evening.

Remembered by Soldier Boys.

The members of Company E, who passed through the troublesome days at McClainsville, will have no difficulty in recalling the man with the wooden leg who always had a little whisky in his bottle when the boys were thirsty. He became a noted character about the camp, and was so well patronized that he had numerous narrow escapes from arrest. The officers did not know his business, and the privates did not break faith. He was in town today and remembered some of the boys well enough to call on them.

May be a Jury Trial.

The case of Miss Sarah Hamill versus Thomas McGee for $105 may not be tried tomorrow morning in Squire Rose's court. The defendant has requested a jury, and will be granted the privilege of a jury trial.

Some of the Sick.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, Fenton street, is recovering from an illness with tonsillitis.

Aleck Brown is confined to his home with an attack of grip.

ONE HORSE KICKED

And James Moore Lost Consciousness.

IT HAPPENED IN WEST VIRGINIA

The Exciting Experience of a Liverpool Man Yesterday Afternoon—Bruised and Cut He Knew Nothing for Several Hours. A Close Shave.

J. L. Moore, an insurance agent of this city, was badly hurt by a horse in Highlandtown, across the river from Wellsville, yesterday afternoon.

In company with S. J. Crawford the unfortunate man was in West Virginia looking after insurance business, and decided to stay for a few hours in Highlandtown. They were driving a fire team of colts, and when they began to unhitch the horses one showed a disposition to play. The next minute its heels had shot into the air, and Moore was on the ground bleeding from the wounds made by the hoofs. The horses ran away, and Crawford summoning aid carried the injured man to a house near by. When medical aid arrived it was found that several wounds had been made on the young man's head, and it was thought his skull was fractured. He was unconscious for several hours, and fears were entertained that he would not recover. Later he began to regain strength, and was soon out of danger. Mr. and Mrs. Moore, his parents, reside on Fifth street, and went this morning to bring their son to this place. Moore is a brother of John Moore, the late Democratic candidate for council in the Third ward.

BOYS THROW STONES.

A Couple of Cases Which Result in the Victims Seeking Law.

James D. Huston made affidavit before Squire Manley yesterday that George Rigby had assaulted him by throwing stones, and had a warrant issued for his arrest. Huston claimed it was not the first time he had been assaulted in this manner, and he had at last decided to make an example to those who continued the practice.

A little daughter of Mr. Reagle in West End, was badly injured last evening by a stone thrown by a son of Mr. McDevitt, of that section of the city, at least the girl's father claimed that the lad was the assailant, and he started with his daughter to find Mayor Gilbert. The stone inflicted a wound about an inch in length over the little girl's right eye, and it bled profusely. It will probably disfigure her for life, as it will be a difficult matter to take away the unsightly scar the stitches will cause. Reagle claimed his daughter had been assaulted before.

LATER—The Huston case did not come to trial, as it was found that the grievances of the plaintiff were not so great as at first supposed.

DIED ON A BOAT.

Henry Potts Was Beyond Aid When the Physician Arrived.

Henry Potts, aged 23, died on a shanty boat at the foot of Union street last night, because a physician was not called when he was attacked with typhoid fever two weeks ago.

Potts has been employed in the potteries for three years coming here from Pennsylvania with his father. The boy was a cripple having been injured by brutal treatment during his youth. Several weeks ago the father went to New Cumberland, and when his son was taken ill his uncle, James Potts, with whom he lived, notified the father, who promised to send a nurse, but later forgot about it. Two weeks after the illness came the township trustees were notified, and Doctor Williams took the case, but it was too late; he could do nothing. The funeral took place this afternoon, with interment in Spring Grove. The case is among the most pitiable ever known in the city.

Special Officer.

Harvey Badgley, late roundsman for the city, has accepted a berth with Captain Lee Anshutz, of the steamer Water Maiden, and will act as special officer on all excursions made by the handsome barge, City of East Liverpool. Captain Anshutz has determined that the best of order shall be preserved on all excursions made with him, and has instructed Officer Badgley to carry out said orders to the letter. Harvey last night informed the writer that he would make it his aim to see that excursionists are accorded the best of treatment, and that the best of order shall control from the time the boat leaves the wharf until her return to East Liverpool.

The New Clock.

When the school board arranged with the agent of the Seth Thomas company for the tower clock it was arranged that work would begin in six weeks. That time has almost expired, but no word has been received. M. E. Golding, of the committee having the matter in charge, stated this morning that they expected to hear something very soon. The clock can be placed in position in a short time, the greatest trouble being with the placing of the bell.

TROUBLE ON THIRD.

A Young Man Finds That the Other Man Is at Home.

Rumors of a battle royal are flying around Third street today, and denizens of that thoroughfare are stirred up over what they believe is a sensation.

The residents in the vicinity of Locust alley were startled yesterday afternoon to see a young man emerging hurriedly from a residence and closely followed by the owner of the mansion. The owner held in his hand a club, or some other article which resembled such a weapon, and every step he planted a blow on the head of the unfortunate young man. The latter finally distanced his pursuer and the excited citizen returned home. There is said to have been more war inside the domicile, but if so it was not made public, and the case has not yet found a place in police court.

The Girls Smoke Cigarettes.

Although it is not generally known, and the assertion will doubtless bring protests from the general public, it is, nevertheless true that some Liverpool girls smoke cigarettes, and enjoy them, too. Last evening a News Review reporter was shocked to see two well-dressed young women enter an uptown tobacco store and ask for cigarettes. They knew what they wanted, and were acquainted with the price, and walked away with as much composure as any young fiend in the town. Another instance of similar character was noted in a different establishment a few days ago.

Ready For the Races.

T. R. Eddy, the wheelman who has been in training, here, left last night for Sharpsburg, where he will enter a road race with 91 other riders. The course will be from Sharpsburg to Bakerstown and return.

Williams, who won the Press race last year, will not leave here until Monday, when he goes to Syracuse. He will be in a road race there on Decoration day, the course of which covers 25 miles.

George Hale has entered in six races soon to take place in Youngstown. He and other Beaver Falls men will be in the Press race of this season.

Both After Money.

Special to the News Review.

LISBON MAY 17.—Dr. F. M. Laughlin today brought suit against E. D. Laughlin, of East Liverpool, and Nettie Laughlin, of Millport, asking the foreclosure of a mortgage on land in Millport given a year ago to secure a note for $200.

The jury in the case of Sensesbaugh against Lower returned a verdict last night for the plaintiff for $575 and costs. The suit grew out of a lumber deal, and involved $1,200. All the parties reside in East Palestine. A motion for a new trial was made by the defense.

Beware of Second Base.

The story is abroad and seems to be well founded that the Sells Brothers circus people had a serious loss in the death of one of their trained seals while the show was here Monday night. The defunct inhabitant of the ocean was carefully planted under second base of the diamond and the next losers of a game at West End can successfully claim they were hoodooed.

Pigeons Fly to Cleveland.

Byron Peterson and Meredith sent several of their pigeons to Cleveland this morning, the birds flying directly westward. One of Meredith's pigeons, which he purchased over six months ago, was started for Bayard recently, but flew to its old home in Pittsburgh. The pigeons are marked and their owners expect to hear from them this evening.

A Pretty Picture.

Mr. George Hamilton, of Fifth street, has received a consignment of reports of the deaf and dumb asylum of which he is a trustee. The report is complete in every particular, and contains a number of pictures illustrating the manner in which work is carried on at the institution. Among the other pictures is a very good representation of Mr. Hamilton, and the other officials.

Another Boy.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kos, Cherry alley—a son.

HOW THEY WILL VOTE

Columbiana County Delegates Say Nothing.

SOME ARE FOR JUDGE NASH

Others Favor Bushnell—Poe Might Get One—Keiffer Is In It For a Time—They Will Be Divided On the First Ballot, But May Come Together Later In the Game—What They Say.

When Hon. John Sherman raps the next convention of Ohio Republicans to order he will look down upon the greatest gathering of delegates seen in the state for many years, and among that number will be 13 representative men from Columbiana county.

When these delegates were selected at the Lisbon convention there was a general feeling that the chosen would vote for one man, but who that man was no one could tell from the names when they were announced. It was a mystery as profound and complete as any in the political history of the county, and even the few who believe they know all the inside workings of the party were at a loss to know who would win the vote when the ballots were taken at Zanesville. Since that time interest has been growing, but the result seems the same. The few delegates present when their names were announced by the committee would not talk, turning the question aside with the simple remark that they had given the subject no thought. Since then they have been thinking, but as yet they are not ready to make known their selections. Interviews with various delegates have brought forth the fact that they do not know who they will support. Some say they have not decided, others do not want their choice heralded to the world, and a few give no reason for not telling what they think. At best it seems that the vote of Columbiana county will not be known until the time arrives for an official declaration at Zanesville.

While the delegates will not talk, there are other people who will, and it is from these the information comes that the delegation will be in line for their various candidates. Two are given to Mr. Bushnell, with a possibility of another should he develop sufficient strength to appear anything like a winner. Hoyt is credited with a few, perhaps no more than two, while Nash seems to have an equal number in his train. Poe may get one, Keiffer one, and the others will be scattered among the other candidates on the first few ballots, with a centering toward Hoyt or Nash, perhaps Bushnell should be in the race at the finish. In touching upon this point one of the best known Republicans of the county, who has been in many a hard fought campaign and has seen the inside of many a convention hall as a delegate, had the courage to say:

"While I don't understand the position of the delegates respecting their opinions, I presume there are some who have not yet decided which way they will vote. They have it as a matter of personal right to keep the thing to themselves until the last minute. They are chosen to represent the party and not themselves; but that will appear later on. Who knows but what they are individually circulating among their friends endeavoring to find the opinion of the majority, so they may vote the right way? Such a thing is possible, but to my mind improbable in political matters."

An effort was made to obtain the opinion of W. L. Smith, county chairman and a member of the delegation, but he is out of the city.

Scoring Carey.

The Pittsburg Chronicle of last night goes after George Carey the ball player when it says that "Baltimore needs a hard hitting first baseman. Carey is fielding fine, but is terribly weak with the stick." Carey has always been looked upon as a good hitter by his Liverpool friends who can not understand why he does not get a few three baggers or home runs to his credit.

The Festive Bike.

W. H. Prier, of the Diamond, wrestled with the bicycle to his sorrow yesterday afternoon. His trousers were torn to shreds and as he turned a corner off Sixth street he took a header and slid almost 20 feet. He was bruised and skinned somewhat, but not seriously hurt.

Coming Home.

A number of crockery salesmen are in the city, and others are on the way home from their various territories. They are having their samples rearranged, and will soon take to the road again.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MAY 17.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
Of Ohio.

BEFORE the voters of the country vote for the next president they should remember the Wilson tariff days in East Liverpool.

THE business men of the city would feel more comfortable if the streets were cleaned oftener than the present system and financial resources will permit.

HON. TOM REED is credited with preparing for an extra session late in the summer. If this be true it is proof that Mr. Cleveland has at last seen the error of his way.

HONEST money, protection to home industry and an economical administration of public affairs are the principles upon which the Republicans can carry Ohio this year.

THE Republicans of the county would like to know how the delegates to the state convention are going to vote; but those gentlemen seem to know very well how to keep that little matter to themselves.

MR. BRICE, of New York, and a few of his Buckeye lieutenants are laboring in vain to swing the Ohio Democracy away from free silver, but it can not be done. The old steel has taken the bit in her teeth, and will never be turned from her course until the fallacy has been buried a hundred fathoms deep.

THE reported advance in the price of steel is the best possible indication that commercial conditions are changing and the country is gradually regaining its strength. Healthfulness in the iron market is proof that money is changing hands, and the people are knowing a reasonable share of prosperity.

THE Crisis enjoys such a splendid reputation for prevarication that it only launches a boomerang when it lies about the News Review. The reading public know the miserableness of Democracy for its uselessness, and only puts its fingers to its ears when the discordant notes of untruth and misrepresentation sound upon the air.

FORTUNATE GOVERNOR MCKINLEY.

If the Liverpool friends of McKinley imagine that the hub of American politics, New York city, is howling itself hoarse for Tom Reed, they are laboring under a delusion which should be promptly expelled. Personal contact with a number of Ohio men occupying responsible positions in the great newspaper offices of the city brought out the fact that New York has a lively interest in the exponent of protection. These men are constantly in touch with some of the brightest minds and shrewdest intellects of the metropolis, and but reflected what they have been hearing for months when they asserted that McKinley is the man. They like Mr.
Reed, and are never weary of singing his glories, but they do not look upon him as the candidate of the country. This assertion is frequently heard: "If McKinley can't be elected, the party had better get out of the country." To them the prime object in selecting a candidate is to light upon a man who can sweep the states as Lincoln swept them. They want a victory that will go down in history as the great political triumph of the decade. No second place for them.
They see a chance to win, and want the man nominated who can do it with a great hurrah.

MR. ALBRIGHT'S WAGON.

It Was Stolen, Recovered and Stolen Again.

Six weeks ago Trustee Albright awoke one morning to find that his wagon had been stolen from his stable on Calcutta road, and every effort to find it resulted in failure. After giving up the search he was informed Wednesday that the wagon was in an alley off Second street. He recovered the vehicle, and took it home, going to bed in the consciousness that he had his property. Yesterday morning he found the wagon gone again, and having a clearly defined suspicion that he knew who was responsible for the theft he called on John Allison in the West End. John was aroused from a drunken slumber, but denied any knowledge of the wagon except that he had bought it from a man named Heiner. The trustee pressed him so closely that Allison acknowledged he had taken the wagon, but remarked that he "didn't care for warrants, and wouldn't give it back." Albright might find it if he could, but Allison was not going to locate it for him.
Finding that the man would talk no more the trustee went to city hall, and a warrant was placed in the hands of an officer. Allison was arrested this morning by Officer Jennings. The buggy was found on Second street.

Pawnee Bill's Big Show.

The Pawnee Bill Wild West show will be here tomorrow, giving the city and vicinity an opportunity to see the best exhibition of its character on the road. The company was selected for its ability without regard to cost, and can give a performance second to none. The wild, exciting life of the frontier is shown in its every phase, and the remarkable marksmanship of the cow boys has astonished and delighted audiences everywhere. Pawnee Bill's Big show is the biggest thing the city ever saw.

Mashed the Buggy.

The horse and buggy of Doctor Shay were standing at the corner of Fifth and Washington streets this morning when the horse scared at a passing wagon, and rearing into the air fell on the pavement. The buggy was overturned and badly broken, but the horse escaped without injury. Miss Edna Simms was in the buggy when the accident occurred, but was not injured beyond a slight bruise or two.

Waterproof collars and cuffs that you can clean yourself by simply wiping off with a wet sponge. The genuine look exactly like linen and every piece is marked this way:

They are made by covering a linen collar or cuff with "celluloid," and are the only waterproof goods made with an interlining, and the only goods that can stand the wear and give perfect satisfaction. Never wilt and not effected by moisture. Try them and you will never regret it. Ask for those with above trade mark and refuse any imitations. If your dealer does not have them we will mail you a sample direct on receipt of price. Collars 25c. each. Cuffs 50c. pair. State whether stand-up or turned-down collar is wanted.

The Celluloid Company,
427-429 Broadway, New York.

The Vehicle Ordinance.

"If council passes a vehicle ordinance," said a milkman, "there will be a howl from the milk dealers at the start. It is generally understood that the ordinance will include all of us, and we will of course object on the ground that our work on the streets is not long enough every day to warrant the payment of as much as the expressmen. That is our side of it."

Scholars are Hustling.

Preparations are complete for the graduation exercises of the high school, and show that one of the most elaborate in the history of the city will be the result. Examinations are being conducted in the schools this week, and will not be ended until next week. They are earlier than usual, but the students are making a good showing.

Beautiful Decorations.

The floral decorations at the Grand Opera House are superb, every effort having been made to have the stage present a striking appearance. Preparations for the May festival have been completed, and all is in readiness. The seats are selling as well as the Choral union expected, and indicate that a large crowd will be in attendance.

Attending the Pittsburg Assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Watson and Rev. and Mrs.
J. N. Swan left this morning for Pittsburg, where they are attending the Presbyterian assembly.

New Uniforms.

The police will soon be seen on the streets in new uniforms as they have ordered a neat looking style from prominent tailors. The uniforms will not differ greatly from those used at present by the force.

No New Cases.

City hall was devoid of common drunks today but it caused no comment as such individuals have been scarce around there lately. Police business is dull.

Hard and Bitter Wills.

It was remarked by a writer long ago that "there is no revenge so hard and bitter as that of an old man," and it is one of the astonishing perversities of many natures that the longer they live the harder they hug their possessions.
The most disinterested affection is passed over, the most faithful and most valuable services are slightly and grudgingly rewarded. This mental and moral disease notably afflicts the richest. The Marquis d'Aligre was a singular example. His will was concocted with a special desire to disappoint and insult his relatives, friends and servants. To the first it said: "As for you, my relatives who have been so long spelling upon this fortune on which I had concentrated all my affections, you are not going to touch a penny of it, and not one of you will be able to boast that you have squandered the millions which the old Marquis d'Aligre had taken so many years to hoard up."

Sir Robert Bevil, one of James I's officials, did not even spare his wife.
"I give unto my wife tenne shillings in respect she took her sonnes part against me and did animate and comfort him afterwards. These will not be forgotten." And the Earl of Stafford, who married the daughter of the Duc de Grammont, wrote: "To the worst of women, Claude Charlotte de Grammont, unfortunately my wife, guilty as she is of all crimes, I leave five and forty brass halfpence, which will buy a pullet for her supper. A better gift than her father can make her."—Westminster Review.

Divorce in Burma.

Suppose a Burmese husband and wife quarrel and determine to separate. The wife, who always does all the marketing, goes out and buys two little candles of equal length, which are made especially for this use. She brings them home. She and her husband sit down on the floor and light them simultaneously. One candle stands for him, the other for her. The one whose candle burns out first rises and goes out of the house forever, with nothing but what he or she may have on. The one whose candle has survived the longest, even by a second, takes everything. So the divorce and division of the property, if you can call that a division, are settled.
—Philadelphia Times.

Worth's Frankness.

Kate Field says she thinks that Worth made for her the only dress that he ever made of American material. She took him a piece of American satin for the purpose, and at first he refused point blank to touch it. "The manufacturers at Lyons would never forgive me," he said. "They would accuse me of treach-ery." But eventually Miss Field's persuasion prevailed. Worth was exceedingly frank to his customers. "Choose that color if you like," he said one day to a rich American woman, "but you'll look like a fright, and your husband will refuse to pay the bill."

Stephen A. Douglas had a magnificent bass voice that would have made his fortune on the opera stage. The manner in which he bellowed forth "Fellow citizens!" at the beginning of a speech was never equaled by any public speaker.
